

United States Magistrate Judge Robert B. Jones, Jr.

Robert B. Jones, Jr. was appointed as a full-time United States Magistrate Judge in 2013. Prior to his appointment, he practiced civil litigation in Raleigh and Wilmington. His previous work included service as a law clerk to Judge Boyce F. Martin, Jr., of the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Sixth Circuit in Louisville, Kentucky. After receiving his undergraduate degree from Davidson College, he obtained his law degree from Campbell University School of Law. Judge Jones is a member of the New Hanover County Bar Association. He is a former member of the North Carolina Bar Association and the Law-Related Education (LRE) Advisory Committee to the North Carolina Bar Association, during which time he was a contributing editor of The North Carolina Constitution Explained, a classroom guide for school teachers on the state constitution.

Judge Jones maintains chambers in Wilmington.